

RESOURCE DIRECTORY

A Local Resource Directory for Individuals on the Autism Spectrum and Their Families

About the Resource Directory

Since 1969, the Autism Society of South Central Wisconsin has worked to address areas of need, while providing and expanding support for the autism community in ten Southern Wisconsin counties. We are one of 107 national affiliates of the Autism Society of America.

We are a largely volunteer run organization dedicated to improving the lives of all who are impacted by autism spectrum disorders by providing information, resources and support, while raising awareness and acceptance in our community.

The Autism Society of South Central Wisconsin maintains these listings as a service to those affected by autism. Efforts are made to ensure that the listings are of legitimate service providers and that listings are accurate, but this cannot be guaranteed.

The Autism Society does not endorse or have personal knowledge of the abilities of those listed.

Getting Started

Suspecting that a loved one might be on the autism spectrum and receiving a diagnosis can be difficult and often overwhelming. Trying to find appropriate treatment and services can be equally challenging. This guide has been prepared to assist those who are starting on this journey or who are seeking direction as they pursue this path. As with any guide, this is only a list and is by no means comprehensive or representative of all options available. We recommend that you pursue what you feel is appropriate and best for you or your family.

We believe that everyone diagnosed with autism should have a comprehensive evaluation to determine his or her specific needs with regard to appropriate management and therapy. Early intervention can lead to better outcomes, but intervention at any age can be effective and improve the lives of those on the spectrum and their families.

Finding a Provider It is now required that everyone carry health insurance in Wisconsin. Insurance carriers can be helpful in finding providers to fit your personal needs. Internet data bases can also help in your search criteria for provider specialties, location and accepted insurance coverage. For example, ZocDoc (<http://www.zocdoc.com>) and Healthgrades (<http://www.healthgrades.com>) can help with provider searches.

Be sure to check with your insurance carrier to find providers who are covered by your plan.

First Step Essential Resources Include:

- Compass Wisconsin: Threshold <http://www.compasswisconsin.org> (608) 263-7861
Threshold is the doorway to apply for children's long term care support services.
- Department of Health and Social Services for Wisconsin <https://www.dhs.wisconsin.gov/>
- Department of Public Instruction (DPI) <http://dpi.wi.gov/>
- Family Support & Resource Center (FSRC) <http://www.fsredane.org>

Also learn as much as you can about the laws that pertain to children with special needs, including those with autism spectrum disorders.

Your child may also be eligible for financial assistance from the state's health insurance program or the Social Security Administration, so it is important to find out what agencies serve your area and whether your child qualifies for monetary support.

Programs You May Be Eligible For:

- Social Security Disability Programs - Social Security programs include monetary and medical benefits for people who are found to be disabled. There are several benefit programs offered through Social Security.
 - Social Security Disability Insurance (SSDI) benefits are available for persons who have worked and gained coverage by contributing to the Social Security Trust Fund through taxes on their earnings.
 - Supplemental Security Income (SSI) benefits are available for persons who may not have earned coverage through work, but have limited income and resources. Disability benefits are also available to widows, widowers, and children of deceased workers and to children of workers who are currently receiving some type of Social Security benefit.
- Medicaid (Medical Assistance) provides healthcare benefits for people who meet the programs' financial and medical requirements for disability. If you are found disabled and eligible for SSI benefits by SSA you will automatically receive Medicaid coverage. However if you are not eligible for SSI benefits, or are seeking only healthcare coverage you can apply for Medicaid disability coverage directly through the State of Wisconsin.
- Medicaid Purchase Plan (MAPP) offers people with disabilities who are working, or interested in work, the opportunity to buy Medicaid coverage.
- Katie Beckett Program provides healthcare benefits to children from birth through age 18 who have long-term disabilities or complex medical needs.
- Wisconsin's Assistive Technology Program (WisTech) <http://www.dhs.wisconsin.gov/Disabilities/wistech>

Regional Center for Children with Special Health Care Needs / Waisman Center <http://www.waisman.wisc.edu/index.html>

The Waisman Center is dedicated to advancing knowledge about human development, developmental disabilities, and neurodegenerative diseases through:

- Research spanning the biological, behavioral and social sciences
<http://www.waisman.wisc.edu/IDDRC.htm>
- Training for students and post-doctoral fellows, providers and the community
- Service for individuals with developmental disabilities and their families. Autism and Developmental Disabilities Clinic <http://www.waisman.wisc.edu/clinics-asd-dd.htm>

Goals of the Clinic Team:

- Provide diagnosis and medical treatment for patients with autism spectrum disorders and developmental disabilities, including genetic conditions affecting neurodevelopment.
- Provide support, recommendations, and resources for patients and families experiencing ongoing challenges associated with a developmental disability.
- Outreach to the community <http://cow.waisman.wisc.edu>. These programs contract with Dane County Human Services and work extensively with individuals and community teams supporting persons with developmental disabilities.

Diagnosis

Screening and Diagnosis

Diagnosing autism spectrum disorder (ASD) can be difficult, since there is no single medical test, like a blood test, to diagnose the disorder. Diagnosticians look at the child's behavior and development as a whole to make a diagnosis. There are many professionals such as psychiatrists, psychologists, developmental pediatricians, and neurologists who can conduct a diagnostic evaluation. Your local school district can also assist in this process. You can find your local school district by contacting the Wisconsin Department of Public Instruction (see above). Diagnosis can also be done through the Waisman Center (see contact information above, listed under "Getting Started"). Pediatricians and other primary care physicians frequently make referrals for evaluation.

For diagnoses for Adults also see the Adult section of this directory*

Wisconsin insurance law mandates coverage for diagnostic evaluations of autism, so check with your insurance provider regarding referral and coverage issues.

Education

Children Under Age Three

Birth to 3 is Wisconsin's early intervention program. No matter where you live in Wisconsin, your county is responsible for providing Birth to 3 programming for eligible children and their families. Birth to 3 provides screening for any developmental concerns as well as services and supports, such as physical therapy, occupational therapy, and/or speech therapy for those already diagnosed with autism spectrum disorder.

Friendship Tree Preschool – See Children Age Three and Older

Children Age Three and Older

After Age 3, some children are eligible for special education services through the local school district. Public schools must provide services to children with disabilities who qualify. You, your doctor, or another interested party can make a referral to determine if your child needs special education services.

Transition to Adulthood

Students transition to adulthood at age 18. At that time there may be additional services available which will help with this transition. Keep in mind that once the student is 18 providers are not required to speak to the parent/guardian unless the student gives permission or there is a Power of Attorney or guardianship in place.

Waisman Center - Information, Resource and Referral Services

<http://www.waisman.wisc.edu/index.html>

- Regional Centers for CYSHCN (0-21 years) Wisconsin has five Regional Centers dedicated to supporting families with children and youth with special health care needs and the providers who serve them. The Centers are staffed by specialists who can help get answers, find services and connect you to community resources. Their services are free and private.
- Wisconsin First Steps Information and referral hotline for children and adolescents age birth to age 21 with special needs.
- Aging and Disability Resource Centers (18+ years)
- Family Voices of Wisconsin is a statewide network of families of children and youth with special health care needs and/or disabilities and those who work on their behalf. We support families through education, training and leadership opportunities so that families can be effective and informed navigators of their child's system of care. Family Voices of Wisconsin also works to inform and educate health care providers, local, state and national policy makers and administrators about issues that affect children and youth with special health care needs.
- WI Family Center for Education, Training and Support (WI FACETS) Wisconsin Family Assistance Center for Education, Training & Support, Inc. WI FACETS is a nonprofit organization serving Wisconsin children and adults with disabilities, their families and those who support them.

Navigating Autism was created in February of 2009 as a central place where the families of those recently diagnosed with autism spectrum disorders can come for unbiased information in easily-understandable terms about treatment options, school expectations, Wisconsin insurance mandates, and funding opportunities for uncovered treatments, and more.

Funding

Contact your County Health & Human Services Office to inquire about programs or services for which you may be eligible. Even if you have private insurance or other funding sources, this is still an important step.

<https://www.dhs.wisconsin.gov/forwardhealth/imagency/index.htm>

Private Health Insurance

Wisconsin law mandates that most insurance companies cover certain treatments for autism spectrum disorders. The mandate does not cover all insurance plans, so it is important that you carefully review your benefits. Health insurance plans differ in what treatments are covered, how much the plan will pay, and how much the insured will pay for services. The Wisconsin Office of the Commissioner of Insurance (OCI) monitors and enforces the insurance laws and can answer questions about how these laws impact your insurance plan.

Aging and Disability Resource Centers (ADRC)

The first place to go to get accurate, unbiased information on all aspects of life related to aging or living with a disability. The ADRC provides information on broad range of programs and services, helps people understand the various long term care options available to them, helps people apply for programs and benefits, and serves as the access point for publicly -funded long term care. These services can be provided at the ADRC, via telephone, or through a home visit, whichever is more convenient to the individual seeking help.

Living Our Visions, Inc. (LOV-Dane) is a grassroots organization of individuals with disabilities, their families, friends and community members building fulfilling and community-centered lives for all citizens.

LOV is not an agency or program but an organization in which members and others can mobilize their strengths and gifts to enrich the lives of people with disabilities and strengthen the civic life of the community as a whole. By focusing on the assets of people with disabilities, LOV is committed to altering the perception that the primary role of people with disabilities is as clients and receivers.

Wisconsin Statewide Transition Initiative

The overarching purpose of WSTI is to improve transition programs and services so that students with disabilities can make a successful transition from high school to postsecondary education or training, employment and/or independent living. The WSTI project provides personnel development, support services, and information dissemination to promote understanding and implementation of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA) of 2004 transition requirements and effective practice.

The Dane County TimeBank (DCTB), established in 2005, is a network of over 2000 individuals and organizations who exchange services and skills to build community, build capacity, and come together to help each other to build a better world. In timebanking, everyone's time is valued equally - one hour equals one hour - and services exchanged include helping neighbors cover basic needs, skilled services and skill building, and other creative connections. Joining the TimeBank is open to individuals and organizations in Dane County.
